Consolidated Communications Donates Computer Systems to Local Nonprofits

CONROE, Texas – Three local nonprofit organizations received a boost in technology this month thanks to Consolidated Communications. New Caney New Horizons, Literacy Volunteers of America, and Montgomery County Emergency Assistance (MCEA) all received computer systems this month to aid in their charitable work within the county. According to Tom Sutton, MCEA director-support business, the laptops will be instrumental in programs used by the organization’s case workers. “Thanks to Consolidated, our case workers now will be able to perform their duties more effectively,” said Sutton. Several times per year, Consolidated donates its decommissioned computer equipment to local nonprofit organizations.
